DODGE'S PATENT REAPER AND MOWER

AND SELF-RAKER.

This machine has met with the most complete success. In every section where it has been introduced, it has taken precedence over those machines which have heretofore ranked as first-class. It is a perfect Self-Raker and a superior Mower.

A careful examination will convince any one of its superior merits over all others, in simplicity, strength and durability. As a Self-raking Reaper it has no equal to our knowledge.

The Dodge rake is attached to no other machine in the United States, except to this machine. Built by the DODGE & STEVENSON Manufacturing Co., Auburn, New York.

READ THE NOTICE OF THE COMPANY TO OUR AGENTS:

Having been informed that certain manufacturers in Ohio and elsewhere are building Reapers, with DODGE'S SELF-RAKE attached, we ask you to furnish us the names of all persons vending or purchasing such machines, as we have never licensed any person or persons to manufacture said SELF-RAKE, or any part thereof, and will prosecute to the full extent of the law all persons manufacturing, selling or using said Self-Rake except of our own manufacture.
JOHN A. DODGE, President.

We have that confidence in this machine that we are willing to let those wanting a machine test it with any other machine they may wish, and keep the one that gives the most satisfaction.

Farmers wanting Droppers attached can be accommodated.

For the benefit of those wanting machines we would refer them to a few of those to whom we have sold, viz:

STILL AHEAD!

HOFFHEINS'

REAPER & MOWER,

One of the Greatest Machines of the Age,

IS superior to any other Machine now in use, and will excel any that will ever be introduced, having been thoroughly tried and given general satisfaction. I would now inform all those who intend purchasing Machines to call and examine for themselves. This Machine is noted particularly to excel all other machines in strength, durability, ease of draft, and reliability of work, in all kinds of grass and grain.—It cuts lodged grain admirably, which is a great item in Machines to a farmer. It can be used as a hand rake as well as a self-raker. It cuts 5 feet 2 inches in grain; 4 feet 10 inches in grass; has a steel cutter bar, with wrought iron guards; it can be used as a Single Mower as well as a Combined Machine.

A full trial of the Machine can be had.

Also, SHIREMAN'S SELF-DISCHARGING HORSE RAKE, and the great and well-known BRANT RAKE, the best rakes ever introduced. We would also call your attention to the IRON DOUBLE SHOVEL PLOUGH, wrought iron frame, very light and strong, steel shovels, easily adjusted to run shallow or deep, and is neatly and tastefully made.

ALSO, THE KEELER AND EXCELSIOR FANNING MILL, the old Hamburough Fan improved, for many years a great favorite among the farmers of Pennsylvania. It is large and strong, has two cockle screens, and warranted to work perfectly.

Also all kinds of FARMING IMPLEMENTS always on hand.

Any person wishing to examine these machines can see them at the Battle-field Hotel or at my residence, 3 miles from Gettysburg, between the Taneytown road and the Baltimore pike.

Medical.

Baltimore Lock Hospital.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Physician of this celebrated Institution, has Discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effectual Remedy in the World for all DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affection of the Kidneys or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of the Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

Especially, who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness (Loss of Procreative Power—Impotency), Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other Disqualification, speedily relieved.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS,

IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF POWER,

Immediately Cured and Full Vigor Restored.

This distressing Affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility and Wasting of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.

A CURE WARRANTED IN TWO DAYS.

Relief in six Hours! No Mercury!

Persons Ruined by Ignorant, Trifling Pretenders and their Deadly Poisons, should apply immediately.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self-Distrust, love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.

YOUNG MEN

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyment of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating

Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease makes their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration till death puts a period to his dreadful suffering, by sending him to that undiscovered country "from whence no traveller returns."

It is a melancholy fact that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRETENDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being restored to a renewal of Life, Vigor and Happiness, in despair leave him with ruined Health to sigh over his galling disappointment.

To such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges himself to preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and from his extensive practice and observations in the great Hospitals of Europe, and the first in this country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, is enabled to offer the most Certain, Speedy and Effectual Remedy in the World for all Diseases of Imprudence.

THE OLD CHERRYWOOD CLOCK.

It has ticked, with the bell,
That a wedding could tell,
It has ticked, keeping time with the song,
It has ticked at the birth
Of a soul brought to earth,
To battle and grow with the strong.

It has ticked through the night,
When the small shaded light
Saw the weary, fond watchers above,
With the breath dying fast,
Ere the life-lease was past,
Of a parent or child whom they love.

It has ticked to the tread
As they carried the dead
Through the old-fashioned hallway and door,
And it ticked right along,
Just as steady and strong,
When the funeral service was o'er.

'Tis an honest old face
With a dingy brass hand,
Tracing round the old dial each day,
But it seems to foretell,
With a mystic spell,
How swiftly our lives pass away.

'Tis an heir loom at Last,
Looking odd with the rest
Of the modern apparel and ware;
With its wondering gaze,
At the present odd ways
Of the new generation and fare.

There's a problem to solve,
As the hands slow revolve;
Whether modern folks, manners and all,
Are as true and as good
As the odd folks so rude,
Whose hands placed the clock in the hall.

INCIDENT IN ARKANSAS LIFE.

BY JUDGE ARRINGTON.

I shall never forget my first vision of William Denton. It was in the court house at Little Rock, Arkansas, in the summer of 1834. The occasion itself possessed a terrible interest, well calculated to fix in the memory all its circumstances. A vast concourse of spectators had assembled to witness the trial of a young and very beautiful girl on an indictment for murder. The Judge waited at the moment for the sheriff to bring in his prisoner, and the eyes of the impatient multitude eagerly watched the door for the expected advent, when suddenly a stranger entered, whose remarkable appearance riveted universal attention. Here is his portrait done as accurately as pen can sketch it.

A figure, tall, lean and sinewy and straight as an arrow; a brow massive, soaring, and smooth as polished marble, intersected by a large blue vein forked like the tongue of a serpent; eyes reddish yellow, resembling a wrathful eagle's eye—as brilliant as fearfully piercing; and finally, a mouth, slight, cold and sneering—the living embodiment of unbreathed curses! He was habited in leather, ornamented, after the fashion of Indian costume, with beads of every color in the rainbow.

Elbowing his way proudly and slowly through the throng, and seemingly altogether unconscious that he was regarded as a phenomenon that needed explanation, the singular being advanced, and with the haughty air of a king taking his throne, seated himself within the bar, crowded as it was with the disciples of Coke and Blackstone, several of whom, it was known, esteemed themselves far superior to those old and famous masters.

The contrast between the disdainful countenance and outlandish garb of the stranger excited especially the risibility of the lawyers, and the junior member began a suppressed titter, which soon grew louder and swept around the circle. They doubtless supposed the intruder to be some wild hunter of the mountains, who had never before seen the interior of a hall of justice.

Instantly the cause and object of the laughter perceived it. Turning his head gradually, so as to give each laughter a look of infinite scorn, he ejaculated the single word—"Savages!"

No pen can describe the unspeakable malice, the defiant force which he threw into that term; no language can express the infernal furore of his utterance, although it hardly exceeded a whisper. But he accented every letter as if it were a separate emission of fire that scorched his quivering lips, laying horrible emphasis on the s both at the beginning and ending of the word.—It was a mixed growl, intermediate betwixt the growl of a red tiger and the hiss of a rattlesnake—"Savages!" It cured everybody of the disposition to laugh.

The general gaze, however, was then diverted by the advent of the fair prisoner, who came in surrounded by her guard.—The apparition was enough to drive even a cynic mad, for hers was a style of beauty to bewilder the tamest imagination and melt the coldest heart, leaving in both imagination and heart a gleaming picture, enamelled with fire and fixed in a frame of gold from the stars. It was the spell of an enchantment to be felt as well as seen.—We might feel it in the flashes of her countenance, clear as sunlight, brilliant as the iris; in the classic contour of her features, symmetrical as if cut with an artist's chisel; in her hair of rich ringlets, flowing without a braid, softer than silk, finer than gossamer; in her eyes, blue as the heaven of southern summer, large, liquid, dreamy; in her motions, graceful, swimming, like the gentle waftures of a bird's wing in the sunny air; in her figure, slight, ethereal—a syph's or a seraph's; and more than all, in the everlasting smile of the rosy lips, so frank, so serene, so like starlight, and yet thrilling the soul as a shock of electricity.

As the unfortunate girl, so tastefully dressed, so incomparable as to personal charms, calmly took her place before the bar of her judge, a murmur of admiration arose from the multitude, which the prompt interposition of the court could scarcely repress from swelling into deafening cheers. The murmur was followed by a loud unearthly groan from a solitary bosom, as of some one in mortal anguish. All eyes were centered on the stranger, and all were struck with surprise and wonder, for his features writhed as if in torture—torture that his rain of tears could not assuage.—But what could be the cause of this sudden emotion? Could any connection exist between him, the apparently rude hunter, and that fairy girl, more beautiful than a blossom of summer, and in countenance celestial as a star?

The judge turned to the prisoner—"Emma Greenleaf, the court has been informed that your counsel, Colonel Linton, is sick and cannot attend. Have you employed any other?"

She answered in a voice sweet as the warble of the nightingale, and clear as the song of the skylark—"My enemies have bribed all the lawers, even my own to be sick; but God will defend the innocent!"

At this response, so touching in its simple pathos, a portion of the auditors buzzed applause and the rest wept. On the instant however, the leather-robbed stranger, whose aspect had previously excited so much merriment, approached the prisoner, and whispered something in her ear. She bounded several inches from the floor, uttered a wild shriek, and then stood pale and trembling as if in the presence of a ghost from the grave. All now could perceive that there must be some mysterious connection between the two, and the scene assumed the profound interest of a genuine romance. The stranger addressed the court in accents as sonorous as the tone of an organ—"May it please your honor, I will defend the legal rights of the lady."

"What!" exclaimed the astonished judge, are you a licensed attorney?"

"The question is immaterial and irrevalant," replied the stranger with a sneer, "as your statute entitles any person to act as counsel at the request of a party."

"But does the prisoner request it?" asked the judge.

"Let her speak for herself," said the stranger.

"I do," was her answer, as a long-drawn sigh escaped, that seemed to rend her very heart-strings.

"What is your name, as it must be placed on the record? interrogated the judge.

"William Denton," said the stranger.

The case immediately progressed. We will briefly epitomise the substance of the evidence. About twelve months previously the defendant arrived in the town, and opened an establishment of millinery.—Residing in a small room back of her shop, and all alone, prepared the various articles of her trade with unwearied toil and consummate taste. Her habits were secluded, modest, and retiring; and hence she might have hoped to escape notoriety, but for the perilous gift of that extraordinary beauty, which too often, and to the poor and friendless, proves a curse. She was soon sought after by those gay fire flies of fashion, the business of whose life is everywhere seduction and ruin. But the beautiful stranger rejected them all alike with unutterable scorn and loathing.

Among these disappointed admirers was one of a character from which the fair milliner had everything to fear. Hiram Shore belonged to a family at once opulent, influential, and dissipated. He was himself licentious, brave and revengeful, and a duelist of established and terrible fame. It was generally known that he had made advances to win the favor of the lovely Emma, and had shared the fate of all her other wooers—a disdainful repulse.

At nine o'clock on Christmas night, 1833, the people of Little Rock was startled by a loud scream, as of some one in mortal terror; while following that, with hardly an interval, came successive reports of fire-arms—one, two, three—a dozen deafening explosions. They flew to the shop of the milliner, whence the sounds emanated, and pushed back the unfastened door. A dreadful scene was presented. There she stood in the centre of the room with a revolver in each hand, every barrel discharged, her features pale, her eyes flashing wildly, and her lips parted with an awful smile! And there at her feet, weltering in his warm blood, his bosom literally riddled with shot, lay the all-dreaded duellist, Hiram Shore, gasping in the last agony. He articulated but a single sentence—"Tell my mother that I am dead and gone to h—ll!" and instantly expired.

"In God's name who did this?" exclaimed the apalled spectators.

"I did it!" said the beautiful milliner, in her sweet silvery accents. "I did it to save my honor!"

Such is a brief abstract of the essential circumstances, developed in the examination of witnesses. The testimony closed and the pleadings began.

First of all, Fowler, Pike, and Ashley (all famous lawyers at that time in the south-west) spoke in succession for the prosecution. They about equally partitioned their eloquence betwixt the prisoner and her advocate, covering the latter with such sarcastic wit, raillery, and ridicule as made it a matter of doubt whether he or his client was the party then on trial. As to Denton, however, he seemed to pay not the slightest attention to his opponents, but remained motionless, with his forehead bowed on his hands, like one buried in deep thought or slumber.

When his time came, however, he suddenly sprang to his feet, crossed the bar, and took a position almost touching the foreman of the jury, he then commenced in a whisper, but in a whisper so wild, peculiar, and indescribably distinct as to fill the hall from floor to galleries.

At the outset he dealt in pure logic, analysing and combining the proven facts, till the whole mass of confused evidence looked transparent as a globe of crystal, through which the innocence of his client shone luminous as a sunbeam, while the jurors nodded to each other signs of thorough conviction. That thrilling whisper, and concentrated argument, and language simple as a child's, had satisfied the demands of the intellect, and this, too, in only twenty minutes. It was like the work of a mathematical demonstration.

He then changed his posture so as to sweep the bar with his glance, and, like a raging lion, rushed upon his adversaries, tearing and rending their sophistries into atoms. His sallow face glowing like a red-hot iron, the forked blue vein swelled and wreathed on his brow, his eyes resembled live coals, and his voice was the clangor of a trumpet. I have never, before or since, listened to such appalling denunciation. It was like Jove's eagle charging a flock of crows. It was like Jove himself hurling thunderbolts in the shuddering eyes of inferior gods. And yet in the highest temper of his fury he seemed wonderfully calm. He employed no gesture save one—flash of a long bony fore finger directly at the pallid faces of his legal foes. He painted their venality and unmanly baseness in coalescing for money to crush a friendless female, till a shout of stifled wrath broke from the multitude, and some of the sworn panel cried "Shame!" And thus the orator had carried another point—had aroused a perfect storm of indignation against the prosecutors—and this also in twenty minutes.

He changed his theme once more. His voice grew mournful as a funeral dirge and his eyes filled with tears, as he traced a vivid picture of a man's cruelties and woman's wrongs, with special applications in the case of his client, till half the audience wept like children.

But it was in the peroration that he reached the zenith both of terror and sublimity. His features were livid as those of a corpse; his very hair appeared to stand on end; his nerves shook as with a palsy; he tossed his hands wildly toward heaven, each finger spread apart and quivering like the flame of a candle, as he closed the last words of the deceased Hiram Shore—"Tell my mother that I am dead and gone to h—ll!" His emphasis on the word hell embodied the elements of all horror. It was a wail of immeasurable despair—a wild howl of infinite torture. No language can depict its effect on all who heard it.—Men groaned, women shrieked, and one poor mother was borne away in convulsions. The entire speech occupied but an hour.

The jury returned a verdict of "Not guilty" without leaving the box, and three tremendous cheers, like successive roars of an earthquake, shook the court house from dome to corner stone, testifying the joy of the people. At the same moment the beautiful milliner bounded to her feet and clasped the triumphant advocate in her arms, exclaiming—"Oh, my husband! my dear husband!"

Denton smiled, seized her hand, whispered a word in her ear, and the two left the bar together, proceeding to the landing, and embarked on a steam-boat bound for New Orleans. It seems that they had previously parted on account of his causeless jealously, after which she assumed a false name and came to Little Rock. How he learned her danger, I could never ascertain.

They returned to Texas. The husband was a colonel in the revolution, and escaped its perils only to fall the next year in a terrible fight with the Camanches. A new county in the cross-timbers, a county of wild woods romantic as his own eloquence, and of sun-bright prairie beautiful as his own Emma's sweet face, commemorates his name—the name of a transcendent star that set too soon, which else had now been the first luminary in the political sky of Texas, if not in the circle of the whole Union, for he was nature's Demosthenes of the western woods!—N. Y. Sunday Times.

THE SEVEN WONDERS.—The ancient world had its seven wonders, which were much talked about, and which people traveled hundreds of miles to see. But the seven wonders of our time are more useful, and quite as remarkable.

The seven wonders of the world were:—First, the Egyptian Pyramids; the largest of these is 793 feet square and 469 feet high, and its base covers 11¼ acres of ground.

Second, the Mausoleum, erected to Mausolus, a king of Caria, by his widow Artemisia; it was 63 feet long and 35 feet high.

Third, the Temple of Diana at Ephesus; this was 425 feet in length and 220 feet in breadth.

Fourth, the Walls and Hanging Gardens of Babylon. These walls are stated by Herodotus to have been 80 feet thick, 350 feet high, and 60 miles in length, and the statement is deemed credible by modern antiquarians.

Fifth, the Colossus at Rhodes. This was a brazen statue of Apollo, 105 feet high, standing at the mouth of the harbor of Rhodes.

Sixth, the statue of Jupiter Olympus, at Athens, which was made of ivory and gold, and was wonderful for its beauty rather than its size.

The Pharos of Ptolemy Philadelphus.—This was a light house 550 feet high, on the Island of Pharos, at Alexandria, in Egypt; a wood fire being kept burning on its summit during the night to guide ships into the harbor.

The seven wonders of the world now are: The art of Printing; optical instruments, such as the telescope and microscope; gun powder; the steam engine; labor-saving machinery; the electric telegraph; and the photograph.

A GENTLEMAN traveling in Ireland hired a pure native as a servant, who he thought would give him information of the country. Observing a beautiful residence at some distance, the following colloquy ensued:

"Patrick, who lives there?"

"It's Mr. Fitzgerald, that's dead, sir."

"What did he die of?"

"He died of a Thursday, sir."

"How long has he been dead, Patrick?"

"If he had lived till next Thursday, sir, he'd been dead a year."

The gentleman, thinking Pat's wits were wool-gathering, asked:

"Have you taken anything to drink today, Patrick?"

"Nary dhrap."

"Will you take a little?"

"I will, sir."

"Well, what shall it be? Will you take the raw liquor, or will you have grog, or shall I make you a toddy?"

"If yer honor please, I will take the raw liquor first, then I can be a drinking the grog while you are making the toddy."

JOSH BILLINGS thus speaks of a new agricultural implement, to which the attention of farmers is invited, John Rogers' revolving, expanding, unceremonious, self-adjusting, self-greasing and self-righteous hoss rake iz now and forever offered tew a generous publik. These rakes are az easy to keep in repair az a hitching post, and will rake a paper ef pins sowed broad kast in a ten aker lot of wheat stuble. Tehze rake kan be used in the winter for a hen roost or be sawed up in stove wood for the kitchen fire. No farmer ov good moral karakter should be without this rak, even if he has to steal one.

A GENTLEMAN was praising the pretty hair of a lady, when one of those terrible children whom Providence seems to have sent on earth as scourges of hypocrisy and falsehood, exclaimed: "My hair would be as handsome as mamma's, if she'd let me take as much care of it as she takes of hers. Mamma never sleeps in her hair, but always puts it away in the bureau before she goes to bed."

A YOUNG lady having "set her cap," for a rather large specimen of the opposite sex, and having failed to win him, was telling her sorrow to a couple of her female friends, when one of them comforted her with these words: "Never mind, Mollie; there are as good fish in the sea as were ever caught." "Mollie knows that," replied her little brother; "but she wants a whale."

THE other day some ladies were out visiting. There being a little two-year-old present, one of the ladies asked him if he would not kiss her.

He answered, "No."

"What is the reason you will not kiss me?"

"I'm too little to kiss you. Papa will kiss you; Papa kisses all the big girls."

He was permitted to play with his toys.

THE TAX BILL.—It is understood that the Senate Finances Committee will not report the tax bill, recently passed by House, for at least a week, and during that time they will consider how the income tax can be dispensed with. Great efforts are being made to effect a reduction of the tax on spirits, but the committee decline to entertain the question of reducing that tax.

A YOUNG lady, wishing to entangle a young man in the meshes of Cupid, sent him the following invitation:

"Oh, will you come to tea with I,
And help me eat a custard pie!"

To which the young man, with corresponding sentiment and grammer, replied:

Another one's asked me to tea,
And I must go and sup with she?"

A YOUNG lady in town, who was boasting of her teeth, was asked if they were natural or artificial. "Neither," was the reply; "they are gutta percha."

AGRICULTURAL papers in England say that the growing wheat crops look finely everywhere, and a crop larger than the average is expected.

DISCONTENT.—How universal it is! We never heard a man who could say "I am content!" Go where you will, among the rich or poor, the man of competence or the man who earns his bread by the daily sweat of his brow, you hear murmuring and the voice of complaint. The other day we stood by a cooper who was playing a merry tune with the adz around a cask. "Ah!" sighed he, "mine is a hard lot—forever trotting around like a dog, driving away at a hoop."

"Heigho!" sighed a blacksmith, one hot day, as he wiped away the drops of perspiration from his brow, while his red iron glowed on the anvil, "this is life with a vengeance—sweltering and frying one's self over a fire."

"Oh, that I were a carpenter!" ejaculated a shoemaker, as he bent over his lapstone. "Here I am, day after day, working my soul away in making soles for others, cooped up in a seven by nine room."

"I am sick of this out-door work!" exclaims the carpenter, boiling and sweltering under the sun, or exposed to the inclemency of the weather. If I only were a tailor."

"This is too bad!" perpetually cries the Tailor," to be compelled to sit perched up here, plying the needle all the while—would that mine were a more active life!"

"Last days of grace—the banks won't discount—the customers won't pay—what shall I do? grumbles the merchant. "I had rather be a pack horse, a dog, anything!"

"Happy fellows?" groans the lawyer, as he scratches his head over some perplexing case, or bores over some dry record, "happy fellows! I had rather hammer stone than cudgel my brains on this tedious, vexatious questions!"

And through all the ramifications of society, all are complaining of their calling. "If I were only this, or that, or the other, I should be content," is the universal cry. "Anything but what I am." So wags the world, so it has wagged, so it will now.

"COAL OIL JOHNNY" HAULING COAL.—A Rouseville (Pa.) correspondent of the Pittsburg Commercial says:

"Johnny Steele," the farmer boy, oil prince, millionaire, but now teamster, is one of the celebrities of this town. As a self-made man he is as striking an example as can be found anywhere. Five or six years ago it was estimated that he was worth between two and three millions of dollars; but to-day he is reduced to the necessity of earning an honest living by hauling coal along the streets of Rouseville, and doubtless a greater blessing to the community than in the days of his prosperity. His case furnishes as apt an illustration of the truth of the old adage, "that riches take unto themselves wings," as can be desired; but, unfortunately, whiskey and fast life furnished the wings. It is a marked fact that the majority of the old residents who became all of a sudden immensely wealthy are to day sunk in poverty almost as deeply as before they woke up and discovered that they were the possessors of vast wealth.

ONE day last week Mr. J. M. Goals, a wealthy stock dealer, lost a wallet, containing twenty-five thousand dollars, at the Union Depot, Pittsburg. He did not miss it for some time, and on becoming aware of his loss returned to the depot and a diligent search was instituted but all to no purpose. With a heavy heart he was slowly leaving the depot, when a young man stepped up to him and handed over the missing wallet, informing the loser that he had dropped it while in the act of getting out of a car. The now happy drover tendered a one thousand dollar bill to the young man as a reward for his honesty, but the proffered reward was not accepted. After much persuasion the young gentleman took five hundred dollars, showing great reluctance in so doing and declaring his intention to devote the amount to some charitable object. He contended that he had only performed a simple duty, one incumbent on every honorable man, and he did not, therefore, feel justified in taking a reward. The name of the finder is Charles E. McMurtrie, and his residence Tyrone, Blair county.

MISS O'NEAL has answered the chap who called her "Darling," "sweet," and all that. Here it is:

"Oh! you say you are lonely without me, that you sigh for one glance of my eye; you're blarneying always about me—Oh! why don't you to papa apply? You men are so deceiving, I can't believe aught that you say; your love I will only believe in, when jointers is made au fait.

"This trash about eyes, voice and glancing may do for a miss in her teens; but he who to me makes advances must talk of his bank stock and means. You beg of me to go galivating, to meet you at the foot of the lane—with a kiss too! why man your'e ranting! do you think I am wholly insane? When you woo a lady of sense, sir, don't whine about sorrow and tears its a matter of dollars and cents sir, no tale of romance interferes. Oh! poverty is not very funny (my style I'll not try to conceal it,) I can't get a husband with money, I'll live and die Nora O'Neal.

THE New York World says the law for the enforcement of the Fifteenth amendment, particularly that portion of it directed against fraudulent voting, such as is practiced in New York at every election, is a vile partisan measure. This denunciation of the World is tantamount to a confession that the law touches the Democracy on the raw. "Massa," said a Mississippi darkey, "I ain't a gwine to dat meetin' no more! De preacher call my name right out in church." "Why, no he didn't Pete; I was there; he didn't say a word about you." "Wall—it's jess de same. He said, 'you mis'ble sinner, ye mustn't lie an' steal so—an' I know well 'nuff he meant me!"

CRIME IN KANSAS CITY.—The Republican's special from Kansas City gives the following catalogue of crime enacted in that city:—

A man named Williams shot another named Wooden, and crushed the skull of another named Mason, on Saturday night. The latter is dead and the former in a critical condition. Williams is in jail.

On Sunday afternoon James Hall stabbed and killed Timothy Hanlin. This is the eight stabbing affray that Hall has figured in.

On Sunday night George D. Campbell, from Knoxville, Tennesse, or Dalton, Georgia, was murdered by an unknown party. The body was afterward placed on the railroad track and run over by a train.

"MADAM" said a cross tempered physician to a patient, "if women were admitted to Paradise, their tongues would make it a purgatory."

"And some physicians, if allowed to practice there," replied the lady, would soon make it a desert."

"GRANDPA, did you know that the United States has been in the habit of encouraging and acknowledging toires?" "What kind of tories?" "Territories! Now give me some peanuts, or I'll catch the measles and make you pay for them."

A COUNTRYMAN in a factory bet the engineer a dollar that he could seize the fly-wheel and hold it. He seized it and was picked up on a pile of bricks outside the building, with a window sash for a neck-tie.

"WHY do you always buy a second class ticket?" asked a gentleman of a miser. "Because there is no third class ticket," was the prompt reply.

A CHANDLER having had some candles stolen, a person bade him be of good cheer, "for in a short time they will all come to light."

The Star & Sentinel.

Wednesday, June 22, 1870.

WE anticipate our usual publication day this week, to gain time to renovate our office.

A LIVELY debate on Cuban matters took place in the House on Thursday and Friday. The President transmitted a message to Congress in explanation of the policy of the Administration While deeply sympathizing with the struggling patriots and denouncing the cruelties of Spanish officials in the prosecution of the war, the President holds that at no time has the insurrection attained sufficient strength to justify the Government in deviating from its well-known policy of non-interference in the affairs of other nations. Mr. Banks, from the Committee of Foreign Affairs, submitted a report arraigning the policy of the Administration and proposing to give the insurgents belligerent rights, just what we faulted England for doing for Jeff. Davis and his Rebellion. Mr. Orth, from the same Committee, made a minority report defending the past relations of the Government towards Cuba. In the debate which ensued, Mr. Banks attacked the President's Message, charging its authorship on Caleb Cushing, a paid attorney of the Spanish Government. Gen. Butler replied, defending Mr. Cushing from the attack of Gen. Banks. He said it had been charged that Mr. Cushing wrote the correspondence of the Spanish minister to our Government, and also that he was the author of the President's special message on Cuba. General Butler said he happened to know, and he spoke what he did know when he said that Mr. Cushing had never seen the message until it appeared in the newspapers. He was glad to say that we had a President and a Secretary of State who could write their own messages. He then went on to defend the action of the Government in refusing to interfere in the struggle between Spain and Cuba. General Logan followed Gen. Butler, in an earnest denunciation of our Cuban policy and in support of the Resolution submitted by the Committee on Foreign Relations. Gen. Banks closed the debate, when the House proceeded to vote, resulting in the adoption, yeas 102, nays 88, of an amendment offered by Mr. Bingham, authorizing the President "to remonstrate against the barbarous manner in which the war in Cuba has been conducted, and if he shall deem it expedient, to solicit the co-operation of other Governments in such measures as he may deem necessary to secure from both contending parties an observance of the laws of war as recognized by all civilized nations."

This action is a practical endorsement of the President and his Message, and leaves the Cuban question in his hands.

RED CLOUD, the great Sioux Chief, has gone West, sullen and dissatisfied, evidently meaning mischief. All the efforts of the Government failed to convince him of the duty of the Indians to yield to the demands of advancing civilization, abandon the chase, and settle down to agricultural pursuits. He complained of the bad faith of the white men, and the determination to crowd the Indians from the lands which of right belong to them, and demanded that the Government remove its forts from the Indian reservations, recall its troops, and cease the construction of railroads through their lands. These demands, of course, cannot be acceded to. Red Cloud sullenly refused the presents offered to him, and asked to be sent home by the most direct route to his people. At New York, he and his party were feted and made the guests of the City, but all to no purpose. He regards his mission to Washington a failure. On his return he will summon his tribes in council, and before many weeks, the question of submission or fight will have been determined. The Indian problem is a difficult one, and it looks much as if it could only be solved by the strong arm of military power. The Indian must change his habits and yield to the march of civilization, or go under. If war comes, let it be on Sheridan's tactics, sharp, quick and decisive.

COL. PARKER, the U. S. Marshal who arrested Patrick Woods in Richmond for assault on Congressman Porter, in obedience to the mandate of the House, and who refused to regard the writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Wellford, on Saturday appeared in Court in response to a rule to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of Court. He answered that he had arrested Woods under warrant issued by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and that Woods was now in the custody of the Congress of the United States, and disclaimed any contempt of Court, etc.—Judge Wellford recognized the superior authority of the Congress of the United States, and discharged the Marshal from the rule for contempt.

A CALL has been issued for a Convention of the Republicans of the counties of this State in which the Republicans are in a minority, to meet in Philadelphia on the 4th of July, to take steps to make their influence more largely felt in legislation and appointments affecting their counties. Among the grievances complained of is the Legislative rule which gives the control of local legislation, as a matter of courtesy, to the Members and Senators representing the district to be affected. This rule entirely ignores Republicans in Democratic counties, and often works injustice. The Convention, if judicious counsels prevail, may do good.

THE U. S. Senate has been engaged for days on the House bill to abolish the Franking privilege. The tone of debate and various test votes on amendments indicate that a majority of the Senate are adverse to the bill. If it pass at all, it will be with essential modifications, designed to reform abuses rather than abolish the franking privilege. An amendment was adopted by a large majority to continue to weekly newspapers free circulation in the counties where published.

HON. B. F. Whittemore, who resigned to avoid expulsion for complicity in the sale of Cadetships, appeared in the House on Saturday with credentials of his re-election. Objection was interposed by Mr. Logan, who held that the House, having declared him unworthy to hold a seat, could not again recognize him as a member during the 41st Congress. The case was laid over for future action.

On Tuesday the House adopted, yeas 119, nays 24, a resolution offered by Mr. Logan, declining to allow Whittemore to take his seat and ordering his credentials to be returned to him.

THE announcement of Mr. Hoar's resignation as Attorney General and the immediate nomination by the President of Hon. Amos T. Ackerman, of Georgia, produced no little sensation in political circles at Washington last week. Although Mr. Hoar's intention to retire from the Cabinet had been frequently predicted by newspaper gossips, it had been so invariably pronounced unfounded, that the event itself took every body by surprise. It seems to be conceded that Mr. Hoar's resignation has no political significance, his relations with the President being of the most friendly character. It has long been his desire to retire, but he remained in the Cabinet because of the President's unwillingness to dispense with his services.

Judge Ackerman is said to be a sound lawyer, but has no national reputation, and upon the announcement of his nomination to the Senate, the inquiry was general, "who is Ackerman?" The President, in this as in other Cabinet selections, seems to have been guided by his own judgment.—Anxious to give the appointment to the South, he fixed on Judge Ackerman, who is at present U. S. District Attorney for Georgia. He was born in New Hampshire in 1822, graduated at Dartmouth College, emigrated to Georgia, and studied law in the office of United States Senator J. McPherson Berrien (who was attorney general under Jackson). He joined the Whig party, with whom he acted until 1860, when he at first opposed the secession of his adopted State, but finally succumbed to the pressure and enlisted in the Rebel army, and was given a place upon the staff of the Rebel General Toombs, with whom he was a great favorite.

He did not, however, win any especial distinction upon the field of battle, and never rose even to the rank of Brigadier-General. When the secession bubble burst, and the Rebel army scattered before Sherman's forces, he at once accepted the situation and urged upon the people that they try to make the best of things, and recuperate as soon as possible. In 1868, he saw General Grant was the coming power, announced himself for him for the Presidency, and his name was placed at the head of the Grant electoral ticket in Georgia. When Grant came into power his disabilities were removed and he was made District Attorney for Georgia, which position he now holds, having been confirmed by the Senate because he was the best of all the material in the State. He was a member of the Constitutional Convention which made the present Constitution of Georgia, and in that body he tried to get in a clause which would allow colored men to hold office.

"THE Star seems to think that in Rhode Island the 'property qualification' will prevent the negroes from voting, as it does whites. Does that paper believe that the 'white' qualification in the Constitution of Pennsylvania will be respected, and that negroes will not therefore vote in this State?"—Compiler.

Colored people will vote in Pennsylvania and Rhode Island, under the 15th Amendment, on the same basis as whites. No qualification for the right of suffrage can be established by any State which does not apply equally to white and colored voters. That is the whole of the 15th Amendment. The Compiler, in insisting that the "property qualification" of Rhode Island will not apply to colored men as well as white, betrays either profound ignorance of the plainest principles of legal interpretation or a wilful purpose to misrepresent. If Rhode Island persists in maintaining such a qualification as a condition of exercising the right of suffrage, the 15th Amendment cannot prevent it; but it does require the same qualification to be applied to all voters, irrespective of "race, color, or previous condition of servitude."

THE Temperance Question has assumed quite an interesting phase in the Borough of Indiana, Pennsylvania. The citizens of the town having successfully resisted the several applications for license, the landlords, on Monday a week, closed their houses.—In order to accommodate the people in attendance at Court, the citizens opened their dwellings, and in this way the former were accommodated. Steps were then taken to buy or build a temperance hotel, and this movement is likely to succeed, inasmuch as eight thousand dollars were promptly subscribed for that purpose, with a prospect of being largely increased.

IN accordance with a recent Act of Congress the Attorney General's office will hereafter be known as the Department of Justice, with the Attorney General at its head, and a solicitor general and two assistants. The new act transfers to this department the solicitors of the Treasury Department and Internal Revenue Bureau, and the solicitors of the Navy Department and their assistants and employes, and also the examiner of claims in the Department of State. The reorganization will probably take place when the new Attorney General is sworn into office.

THE resignation of Attorney General Hoar has revived gossip as to further Cabinet changes. It is understood that Secretary Fish had determined to resign in case the Cuban policy of the Administration was not sustained by the House; but the action of the latter being a quasi endorsement of the line of action marked out by the Government, Mr. Fish will doubtless remain in the Cabinet.

THE Republicans of Philadelphia have re-nominated Hon. Leonard Myers in the 1st and Hon. Wm. D. Kelley in the 2d Congressional districts.—In the 3d district the Convention split, the majority re-nominating Hon. Charles O'Neil and the minority nominating John V. Creely.

WE learn that Somerset and Fulton counties, on Saturday last, instructed for Mr. Cessna. As Bedford declared for him some time ago, this practically settles the matter. We presume the other counties will concede the nomination and make it unanimous.

A RABID DOG AS A ROOM-MATE.—A crippled man, Mr. Demery, shut in a room in Detroit with a mad dog, has just shown pluck and presence of mind. On Friday last, his wife and child went out, leaving him in bed. The dog tried to go out with them, but was driven back. Demery lay reading for about an hour, when he was aroused by the actions of the dog, which stood in the centre of the room with glaring eyes, and bristling hair, yelping hideously. On being spoken to, the dog slunk under the bed, and lay there howling with pain. A gust of wind closed the door, and Demery and the dog were shut in the room together.

In a short time the animal sprang from under the bed, and began a furious circuit of the room, snapping his jaws from which oozed a thick saliva that scented the room like musk. Round and round he rushed, upsetting chairs, bounding over the stove and catching at everything in his way.

Demery yelled at the dog, and bade him lie down. Just then the brute halted at the door, and Demery raised himself on his elbow and laid hold of his crutch, intending to rise and open the door. The dog, enraged by the movement, sprang at him with a howl, but received a blow from the crutch which sent him rolling on the floor. The animal soon struggled up, however, and resumed his mad race around the room, presenting a more frightful visage than before. Demery moved to the side of the bed next the wall, and gripped his crutch ready for defence.

It suddenly occurred to him that his wife and child would soon return, and that the dog, which he saw was rabid, would probably attack one or both of them as they unsuspectingly entered. This was from that moment the one terrible dread that filled his mind. He formed an unselfish resolve, and at once acted upon it. He would excite the brute to attack him, hoping in the struggle to deal him a death-blow.—Getting on his knees, and firmly grasping his crutch, Demery yelled at the dog. The animal, still tearing around the room, and clashing his jaws together, suddenly stopped, glared on the man, and then made a furious spring for the bed. With sure aim, Demery's crutch descended on the dog's head, and felled him to the ground. Three times the infuriated brute returned to the charge, and three times was repulsed. At the fourth time he fell stunned and bleeding, and after breaking the crutch over his head, the man finished him off with an axe. Demery then dragged the body outside, and calmly waited for the return of his family.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The State Sunday School Convention in Harrisburg, last week, was attended by about 600 delegates, and was in all respects a success. Among the delegates we notice the following credited to Adams county:—George Wolf, of Abbottstown; D. W. Cassat, Hunterstown; Samuel Wolf, Oxford township; A. C. Musselman, Fairfield; Rev. M. J. Alleman, Littlestown; E. S. Breidenbaugh, Mrs. Prof. Croll, Miss Julia Jacobs, J. L. Kendlehart, B. J. Hickman, Miss Anna Danner, T. J. Stahle, J. A. Clutz, and L. M. Heilman, of Gettysburg.

REV. G. A. Peltz, of Philadelphia, was elected President; I. N. Baker of Philadelphia, E. S. Breidenbaugh of Gettysburg, and K. A. Lovell of Huntington, Secretaries. After an interesting session of three days the Convention adjourned to meet in Allentown next June. The following Resolutions, reported by the business committee, were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, 1. That as the blessing of God has signally attended those Sunday schools which have been kept open all the year round, whether in city or country, we recommend to all the lovers of Christ persistent efforts to keep open every Sabbath in the year, and we are resolved to persevere in these efforts until entire success crowns our exertions and every school in the Keystone State is open all the year round.

2. That we respectfully suggest to those who have charge of theological seminaries and colleges the propriety of introducing a Sabbath school department in all such institutions.

3. That from the great advantages which have resulted from State conventions, we earnestly urge Sunday school men and women all over the State to labor to secure a county organization and get together the workers in the good cause for mutual improvement, instruction and encouragement.

4. That experience teaches that there is no sufficient substitute for the use of the denominational catechism as a part of Sabbath school instruction; we therefore most earnestly recommend that in all cases (except in union schools) the teachers strive to fix not only the words of the catechisms in the memory, but also the meaning in the understanding and the heart.

5. That as intemperance is ruining increased numbers of our youth, this convention judges it an important part of our Sunday school work to educate the children in the virtues of total abstinence from all intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and we believe that every Sunday school ought to be a thorough temperance organization.

6. That appreciating the adoption of the missionary department of the Sunday School Union to the promotion of the Sunday school cause in the State, we hereby cordially commend its missionaries to friends of Sunday schools.

7. That it is very desirable, if not a necessity, that every well-ordered and successful Sunday school shall have uniform and graduated lessons which should be previously studied in weekly teachers' meetings.

8. This convention sends its Christian greeting to every Sunday school teacher in Pennsylvania and bids them God speed in their work, and to all we would say, in the name of our blessed Saviour, the mottoes of the Sunday school in whose house we met:

Study your lessons.
Be punctual.
Preserve order.
Occupy the time.
Visit your scholars.
Pray for success.
And may the Lord bless you all. Amen.

9. That a review of the wants of our State has shown that there are many thousands of the children of our State that are not gathered into the Sunday school, and multitudes of those that are in the schools are yet unconverted; we desire, therefore, to go forth to our work for the next year with renewed consecration to Jesus, earnestly praying for a special baptism of the Holy Ghost; and we recommend all our brethren and sisters all over the State, on every Sabbath day as they pray for their own souls and upon their scholars, also to plead for a like blessing upon all their fellow workers and upon all our Sunday school children.

A CURIOUS WILL CASE AT PHILADELPHIA.—On Saturday, in the Court of Common Pleas, Judge Ludlow, delivered an interesting opinion in the Alter will case:

George A Alter and Catharine his wife each determined to make a will, and each intended to give to the survivor the property he or she possessed. Two wills were prepared for execution, and as was supposed were duly executed, and then placed in separate envelopes. The husband died, and on examination of the envelope containing, as was thought, his will, it was discovered that the husband had signed his wife's will, and the wife had signed the husband's will.

In this dilemma the wife obtained legislation and an Act of Assembly was passed authorizing her to file a petition stating the facts, and upon proof of "the alleged mistake" to the satisfaction of the Register's Court that tribunal is clothed with "the powers of a Court of Chancery," and is authorized "to reform said paper writing," and "to have entered in the office for the Register of Wills in and for the city and county the said paper-writing, which he (George A. Alter) intended to execute as his last will and testament, as if the said writing had been signed by him, with his own hand and seal, and not by his said wife Catharine."

On petition of Mrs. Alter to the Court, setting forth the facts, the Act of Assembly, and praying that her husband's intentions be carried out by admitting to record the will he thought he was executing, Judge Ludlow dismissed the petition, ruling that the Act was unconstitutional and the Court powerless in the premises. The Judge said:

"What proposition can be clearer than that at the moment the breath went out of the body of George A. Alter, his estate, real and personal, rested in full property in his heirs-in-law and distributees under the intestate law of Pennsylvania? It is true he may have intended to execute a will, but he did not in fact do so; he signed a paper, but not his will; and the case is not harder than that of a person who, in disregard of our statute on wills, signs his name at the top in place of the end thereof, or who adds a codicil and does not execute it, or who dies while his professional adviser is preparing his will. This is a hard case, but the injury which would be inflicted upon society by giving effect to this act would be infinitely greater than any evil which will flow form a disregard of it. And the time has not yet arrived when by any process of legal ingenuity, aided by legislative action, the property of one man can be arbitrarily given to another by any "rescript or degree," as Chief Justice Gibson calls it, such as is called to notice in this case. Without power at law or in equity to aid this petitioner, and with a constitutional provision staring us in the face, we must decline to grant the prayer of this petition."

AMONG THE BEES.—A little girl about two years of age, daughter of Peter Breitweiser, of this place, narrowly escaped being stung to death with bees the other day. It seems the child wandered to a hive in the garden and commenced playfully knocking them down. Death would no doubt have been the result had the father not heard the cries of the child and rescued it in time.—It was stung severely on the head, face, hands and even in the mouth. Mr. B. says its head and face were literally covered with bees. It would be well for bee owners to profit by this lesson.—Waynesboro' Record.

THREE TRAGIC HOUSES IN WASHINGTON.

Lafayette Square is distinctly connected with three tragedies, two occurring and one terminating on its boundaries. The last mentioned is the first, in chronological order; the duel of Decatur concluding in his death at his house on the northwest corner of the Square. This house is very little changed by the lapse of years. It has an air of the past about it which is old fashioned but not picturesque. It is a double house, three stories in height, built of brick, unpainted. It fronts on the square and runs quite far back on H street; a low building covered with yellow plaster connects with it, in which were the kitchen and servants' rooms. A door in this building is pointed out as the one through which Decatur left the house on the fatal morning. The story of the duel is a very sad one. Decatur was universally beloved, and his great services to his country were so sincerely appreciated that losing him in such away produced feelings of the most intense horror and distress. It is useless to give details of the quarrel between Decatur and Barron. It related to naval affairs, and it is generally conceded that Barron is responsible for the duel, which Decatur avoided as long as possible. He expressly declared many times that he had no desire to take human life, and should be careful in case he fought not to wound his enemy in a vital point.—To this resolution he adhered. There are those still living who remember attending a party at his house either the night before or a very short time previous to the day the duel was fought. The precise date is not remembered, but the impression remains with the lady who tells the story that it was the evening before. The same lady, who knew him and his wife intimately, speaks with vivid recollection of both them as they appeared on that last evening of his life.—Knowing all the while of the appointment he was to keep on the following morning, Commodore Decatur was still able to entertain his guests with his usual cordial hospitality, and remained in the parlors, conversing in his ordinary manner, until the last of the company had left the house.—Mrs. Decatur, who had no suspicion of what anguish was in store for her, was particularly animated during the evening, and, at the urgent request of some of her friends, played on the harp, for she was a skilful performer on that instrument. The next morning, March 22, 1820, Decatur rose early, crossed the square, and walked to Capitol Hill to Beale's Tavern, which house stood on the diagonal corner from the present Senate wing of the Capitol. From there he and his friends went to Bladensburg, where the duel was fought about 9 o'clock. Decatur was mortally wounded, and was brought back to his home to die in a few hours. He was buried at Kalorama, a country place near Washington.—Mrs. Decatur occupied her house for a few years after the death of her husband, whom she most deeply mourned. Since that time many persons have lived there, among whom were the father and uncle of Mrs. Bancroft Davis, the two brothers King, who were both members of Congress. Mrs. Davis there passed a portion of her girlhood. The house is now, and for some time has been, used as a Government office. The remainder of the block is well built up, some of the handsomest dwellings in Washington having been erected there within two years.

Mr. Colfax occupies what is variously known as the Sickles and the Stockton house. It is this house which old residents mention as having been always inhabited by the aristocracy, and only once has a Congressman occupied it—which is meant to imply that only once has it descended so low as that. Members of the Cabinet, as a rule, were the dwellers in the house. Mr. Woodbury, the father of Mrs. Montgomery Blair, lived there when Secretary, first of the Treasury and afterwards of the Navy. The father of Mrs. Ogden Hoffman, of New York, (Mr. Southard, of Georgia), also lived there. The name of Stockton house is given because Purser Stockton, who married a relative of Commodore Decatur, owned and lived in it for some time. When Sickles had it, the trees in Lafayette Square were young and small, and the waving of a handkerchief from one of the windows could be distinctly seen across the park at the the club house, nearly opposite; and thus, it is said, was the intercourse carried on between the false wife and the handsome man of the world which terminated, in the second tragedy, at the corner of Madison place and Pennsylvania avenue. Near this corner may still be seen, if one searches diligently, the remains of the trunk of the tree against which Key fell on that Sunday morning when the church services were just concluding and the ladies were passing to their homes, and in some instances were horrified witnesses of the encounter. Many of these ladies left the city at once to avoid appearing in court to give testimony in such a case. The stump in the street is indicated by a dot in the diagram. It is a mere point, and is almost concealed by grass and stones. The club-house stands near the middle of the block. It is a very large double house, three stories in height, and composed of red brick. Commodore Rogers, of the navy, built it and lived in it. After he died, it was, as now, a fashionable boarding-house, and later still the club house, distinguished as such because of Barton Key being a member of the club, and because of his being removed thither after he was shot. But this distinction has been merged, on account of a more recent tragedy, into that of being known as the Seward house. It was here that Mr. Seward lived eight years of his presiding over the State Department, and it was here the attempt was made to assassinate him, at which time his son was also so severely wounded, and his lovely young daughter received the shock from which her sensitive temperament never recovered. In this house she was, for many months after the recovery of her father and brother, a patient invalid, slowly but surely dying of a consuming disease. The illness and death of that young girl, who with so much to make life happy yet met the destroyer with perfect faith and resignation, form the beautiful while pathetic chapter in the history of the house. Strange to say, it is not a gloomy place. This past winter has seen its largest rooms closely packed with the gayest people of the city. The receptions there given by the Secretary of War and Mrs. Belknap were remarked as being specially merry and enjoyable, barring the discomforts one must always experience at crowded parties.

DUEL EXTRAORDINARY.—A duel, illustrative of the small value placed on life, occurred lately in Vienna, the Austrian capitol. A lieutenant in the army and a dancer of the opera house, both young men, having had a quarrel concerning a lady, agreed to settle the trouble by a method which, if not commendable, possessed at least originality. The terms were that each should wear a glove on the left hand, and which ever was seen by the other without the glove should kill himself. Owing to being taunted by his relatives upon the singularity of keeping his left hand gloved, the dancer had been induced to violate the agreement, and being seen thus by the lieutenant, he considered himself bound in honor to fulfil the stipulations, and shot himself in the park, where he was found bleeding and carried home. The simpleton very properly died after imparting the above particulars.

NEWS OF NEIGHBORING COUNTIES.

CARROLL.—The Commissioners of Frederick and Commissioners of Carroll counties have agreed to build jointly a bridge across Double Pipe Creek at Cover's Mill, the cost of which shall be equally borne by the said counties.

CUMBERLAND.—H. H. Williams, of New Cumberland, was drowned in the Yellow Breeches creek on Tuesday night. He leaves a wife and family of children to mourn his loss.—John Miller, of Crane's Gap, while chopping wood in the mountain, last week, cut himself in the foot and died from loss of blood before medical aid could be secured.

FRANKLIN.—On the night of the 17th inst, three dogs made an attack on the sheep of Benjamin Kohn, in St. Thomas township, and killed twenty-six of the flock.

WASHINGTON.—The Hagerstown papers say that the continued rains have damaged the wheat crop. The rust, weevil and other inevitable pests and disease having attacked the grain in a large portion of the county, a short yield is of course expected. In certain localities, however, the crop will be good, and it may turn out that the matter is not as bad as some persons are trying to make it.

YORK.—A son of Emanuel Bates, York, was drowned in the Codorus on Monday last. This family is remarkably unfortunate. Last Fourth of July one of the boys lost a finger through firearms; more recently another child was scalded to death; week before last a third had his fingers lacerated at Farquhar's machine shop; and now a fourth is drowned.—Last Friday afternoon two valuable cows belonging to Mr. Adam Smith, of Heibelberg township, were run over by an engine on the Hanover Branch, and killed.

FROM EUROPE.

PARIS, June 18.—The emperor's health has improved within a day or two, although he stills suffers considerable. He presided to-day at a council of Ministers. The Court has deferred its departure for St. Cloud for a time.

ROME, June 18.—Yesterday Cardinal Patrizzi, speaking in the name of the Sacred College, congratulated the Pope on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his accession to the Holy See, and expressed a desire for the definition of the dogma of Infallibility. The Pope made a significant reply, insisting on the danger of the spirit of emancipation in the Church.

PARIS, June 18—2. P.M.—The strike among tradesman engaged in the various branches of manufactures are spreading. The character of the disturbance is the most formidable in all branches of trade and mechanism involved.

Many of the iron founders of France and Germany, for the Manufacture of cast and hollow ware and parts of machinery, have been compelled to close on account of the desertion of the workingmen, and others are about stopping, and if the movement continues there will be a general suspension of operations in this branch of industry.

The English and German Unions have contributed one thousand pounds each to the support of the strikers during the continuance of the movement.

GREAT FLOOD IN THE RIVER.—The Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin of yesterday says; The unprecedented rains of Thursday, Friday and Saturday caused a rise in the river which for rapidity has not been equaled for many years. The tributaries in this immediate vicinity were not much swollen, showing that the rains had spent their power along the main stream. On Friday morning the water had reached fifteen feet above low water mark, and so suddenly had it come up that large quantities of logs, which had been rafted out of the boom and not secured in basins or harbors, were broken away and swept down stream. The vacuum left in the Susquehanna boom where logs had been rafted on was soon filled by the crowd above, and many logs escaped at the bottom and passed down stream. The water reached its height about two o'clock on Saturday morning, when it marked nineteen feet nine inches, being several inches higher than the spring flood. As near as we could ascertain, the following losses have been sustained:

Dodge & Co., 1,000,000 feet logs; H. James & Co., 1,000,000; J. V. Brown & Co., 1,000,000; J. A. Otto & Son, 250,000 feet; John DuBois, 250,000 feet; G. Tinsman, 250,000 feet; Thompson [illegible] & Co., 300,000 feet; Cook, Sloanaker & Co., 500,000 feet; Trullinger, Croft & Co., 500,000; Manlon Fisher, 250,000 feet; Crouse, Herdic & Co., 200,000 feet. There were others who lost more or less, but we have not been able to ascertain the particulars. In addition to the above, about 2,500,000 feet escaped from the boom. Probably the loss to the lumbermen of this city will reach nearly $300,000, not counting the drawback for what they may recover below. The Loyalsock boom has not, we understand, caught many, and it is estimated that 8,000,000 feet passed below that point. It was a blue day for many of our lumbermen.

We learn that the Lock Haven boom is all safe, and few if any, logs escaped from it. The flood at that place was not near so high as the one here.

The people of Mill street had to resort to the second stories of their houses to escape the water which took possession of their first floors.

AN AMERICAN BISHOP IN THE COUNCIL AT ROME.—Writing on the 30th ultimo, the Roman correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette says:

"The day before yesterday a violent scene took place in the Council, on the delivery of a speech by Monsignor Verot, Bishop of Savannah, United States, the orator of the American Episcopate. This discourse, pronounced in a voice audible through the hall, vehemently assailed the dogma of infallibility, declaring that all the Bishops who voted in its favor would be guilty of sacrilege. The majority met this imputation with protesting cries, and the clamor became so furious that the President Legate rang his bell, and called on the speaker to retract the expression.—Supported by Monsignor Strossmeyer, the Bishop of Savannah refused, maintaining that he was entitled to express his conscientious opinion. He said he was the citizen of a country where every opinion was free, and, that trained in freedom, he would preserve his independence even in the Ecumenical Council. Monsignor Senestry, Bishop of Ratisbon, spoke with equal force, but in more guarded language, against the dogma, affirming that he expressed the sentiments of the vast majority of German Catholics. The sitting broke up in great agitation. Several members of the majority have availed themselves of the new regulation to demand an immediate vote. As there are yet seventy fathers inscribed to speak on the question, the Cardinal Legates referred for instructions to the Pope; and the Holy Father decided there should be no interference with the debate. The Bishops of the minority are now acting in concert with the Ministers of the Catholic Powers. Conferences have been held both at the Austrian and French Embassies, and it was finally arranged that the Bishops should sign a collective note to the Pope protesting against the promulgation of the dogma. But I am persuaded that all opposition will be useless.

EVERY now and then, says the New York Herald, the Administration writes in letters of gold an additional reason why it should continue in office. One of the last reads thus: "Receipt from Internal Revenue during the year ending April 30, 1870, $180,960,954."

BOOK NOTICES.

THE MEN WHO ADVERTISE; American Newspaper Rate Book, and Newspaper Directory. New York: Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 40 Park Row. 1870. Royal octavo, pp. 872.

In a large but compact volume we have here the results of more than a year's careful compilation of materials, and furnishing a complete exhibit of the newspaper business of America. The volume really contains three works bound in one, the first being a series of spirited sketches of those persons who have acquired fortune and fame by advertising, including such men as Bonner and Barnum, and compiled in many cases from original materials. This is followed by a Rate Book, showing the charges and cost of advertising in nearly all of the prominent newspapers in the United States and British Provinces adjoining, thus giving to the possessor of this volume a quantity of condensed information hardly to be found elsewhere; and the third part of the book is an extensive and accurate Directory of newspapers in English-speaking countries in North America. The growth of the newspaper press in America has in it something of the marvellous, and few indeed of those in the business can name one tenth of those published. In this prodigious activity New York city takes the lead, followed by New England and Ohio, but there is no portion of the country where newspapers are not a necessity. Nearly six thousand periodicals are published in the limits embraced by this book, and for each of them a brief resume is made, giving the name of the proprietors and editors, the date of establishment, the extent of circulation, the politics, and much other useful information. The whole forms a truly useful compilation for editors and publishers as well as that large class of persons whose success depends upon that of the press, such as type-founders and press manufacturers and advertisers.

"LIFE IN UTAH; OR THE MYSTERIES AND CRIMES OF MORMONISM; being an expose of their secret rites and ceremonies, with a full and authentic history of Polygamy and the Mormon sect, from its origin to the present time;" by J. H. Beadle, editor of the Salt Lake Reporter. Published by the National Publishing Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

The attention which Mr. Beadle's letters on Mormonism, written from Utah to the "Cincinnati Commercial," attracted throughout the country, justifies us in predicting that this new work from his pen will command a large and rapid sale. Of all the writers who have yet touched upon this theme, Mr. Beadle is, perhaps, the best prepared for the task. His long residence among the Mormons, and his position as editor of the "Salt Lake Reporter," have given him a familiarity with the subject, which it is impossible for any mere transient visitor to acquire. We are therefore justified in placing more than usual confidence in his statements, which he supports by an overwhelming array of testimony from both Mormon and Gentile sources.

It may be said with truth, that the curiosity of the public with regard to the state of affairs in Utah, was never so great as at present. Mr. Beadle's book will amply satisfy the most curious. He traces the history of Mormonism from the birth of its Prophet and founder, down to the present day, and shows how completely the Mormon Leaders have duped their followers; how they are kept in a state of treasonable hostility to the Union; and how the Territory has been made a scene of constant strife and bloodshed. The work goes deep into the mysteries of this strange religion, and lays bare its horrible licentiousness. It abounds in records of the vilest and most terrible occurrences, which make it read more like a romance than a veritable history.

Coming before us as it does at a time when the General Government is making a determined effort to restore order and morality in Utah, we find it a most welcome and useful work. It is far more thrilling than the majority of sensational books with which the country is flooded, and is calculated to do much good by giving to the public a candid and impartial statement of a question which bids fair to cause no little trouble. The book is sold only by subscription, and agents are wanted in every county.

SERIOUS RESULT OF A JOKE.—Quite a serious accident occured on Ohio street, Allegheny, on Saturday, being in some degree the result of an intended joke on the part of the victim. At a quarter to seven o'clock two young men entered upon their day's work in a building which is being fitted up, on Ohio street, within a few doors of Sandusky street. They started to ascend the stairway together, but before the fourth story was reached one was considerably in advance of the other. The one who was in advance thought this an opportunity to play a little joke, and so stepped into what he supposed to be a cupboard, with the idea of hiding there until his companion might come along, when he could suddenly jump out and startled him. Accordingly he stepped into the cavity which he supposed to be a cupboard, without making any examination of it. It proved to be an elevator, running down to the first floor. The young man fell through it until his descent was stopped by a few planks which happened to be set across the aperture in the second story. He was taken to his boarding house on Main street, where Dr. Emerling attended him. His left leg was ascertained to be broken in two places, while it is feared that he has sustained severe internal injuries.—Pittsburg Dispatch 14th.

WITH the President's signature, the bill to reduce the army goes into effect. The maximum of the army is fixed at thirty thousand men, and the annual saving is estimated at four millions of dollars, notwithstanding the provision allowing one year's pay to officers who resign now. The regular service is earnestly opposing this bill. Under this bill, which prohibits military officers from holding civil position, General Sickles, minister to Spain; General Badeau, consul to London; General Kilpatrick, minister to Chili, and Generals Porter, Babcock and, Dent on duty at the White House, will have to resign either their civil or military positions. General Sherman's pay is fixed at twelve thousand dollars, and General Sheridan's at ten thousand dollars.

LAST Thursday week a young lady of Springcreek township, Warren county, named Amelia Patchin, was shot while washing dishes at the pantry window, by a boy named Frank Armitage. The boy aged sixteen, was in a field at a distance from the house, and shot at a bird. The ball took effect in the young lady's breast. She ran ten or twelve rods to the barn and informed her brother, who made a hasty search and discovered young Armitage going leisurely through the field all unconscious of the deed he had done. Dr. Picket, of Columbus, and a Corry physician, were called, but were not able to find the locality of the ball, and the young lady has no hopes of recovery.

SCARLET FEVER.—An eminent physician robs scarlet fever of many of its terrors, by prescribing for the patient warm lemonade with a little mucilage, as often as desired, and the application of warmth to the stomach.—He directs that a cloth should be wrung out of hot water and laid on the stomach, renewing it as often as it cools. Nothing else but the lemonade is to be given With this treatment he guarentees that not one in a hundred cases will prove fatal. We have known cider to cure more than one obstinate case,—A vegetable acid appears to be a specific in colds and fevers,—Ex.

ARREST.—A man named Lewis Miller, was committed to jail last week charged with stealing a coat at the hotel of Mr. Jeremiah Johns, in McSherrystown.

HAIL.—A hail storm passed over parts of Franklin, Highland and Freedom townships, on the afternoon of the 11th inst., doing considerable damage to growing grain and fruit trees.

DISSOLVED.—Messrs. Cannon & Miller have dissolved partnership, Mr. Cannon having disposed of his interest in the Marble-yard to his partner. Mr. Miller has the reputation of being a good workman, and will doubtless sustain the reputation of the establishment.

HOT.—Monday last was an intensely hot day, close and sultry. During the night a thunder storm passed over town, and since then the weather has been cool and pleasant. Telegrams from New York and the New England States give accounts of an extended and terrific hail storm which swept over that section on Monday evening, doing much damage.

APPROPRIATION.—We see it stated that on Monday last, at a meeting of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs, a petition from Bishop Simpson, Gen. Meade, Geo. H. Stuart, Jay Cooke, and others, was read, asking for Congressional aid to the Soldiers' National Orphan Homestead, at Gettysburg, and that the Committee agreed to report a bill giving the institution $20,000.

FESTIVALS.—The recent Strawberry Festival for the benefit of the Reformed School was a success, the receipts of the two evenings amounting to $294.93. The proceeds will be applied to the purchase of a Cabinet Organ.

The Strawberry Festival gotten up by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church, on Friday and Saturday evenings, was also well patronized, about $275 being realized.

CORPUS CHRISTI.—The festival of Corpus Christi which is annually observed by the Catholic Church with imposing ceremonies, took place at Conowago Chapel on Sunday, having been postponed from the previous Thursday on account of the weather. A very large crowd of visitors were in attendance, and the ceremonies are represented as having been unusually attractive. A special train was run from Gettysburg, which took down a number of citizens.

RECEIPTS.—Subscribers, in remitting the amount of their subscriptions for the paper, occasionally make request that we send receipts for the money. This is unnecessary, as the labels on the paper, which are corrected every week, show the date to which subscriptions are paid. All that a subscriber has to do, after remitting money, is to examine the label on his next paper, and if he finds the date advanced to cover the amount sent, he can take it for granted the money came to hand.—These labels constitute the best receipts, not being liable to loss.

RECOVERED.—Last week we noticed the arrest, by detective Rouzer, of a horse-thief who gave his name as Crawford. It turns out that the stolen horse belongs to Mr. Bair, residing near Bloomfield, Perry county. Mr. Rouzer telegraphed to Mr. Bair, who came on, identified the horse, paid the reward, and took him home. Crawford, we understand, admits his guilt. Mr. Rouzer deserves much credit for the arrest, which was made purely on suspicion, the conduct and bearing of the man in passing through town being such as to arouse Mr. Rouzer's suspicions.

PENN'A COLLEGE.—The Catalogue of this Institution for the Collegiate year, 1869-70, shows a roll of 161 students, 101 of whom are in the College proper and 60 in the Preparatory Department. The Franklin Professorship is still vacant, by reason of a failure on the part of the Board and the Pennsylvania Synod to harmonize on a nomination. The instruction embraced in this chair is given by the other Professors. Otherwise the Faculty is full and presents an array of talent and teaching capacity which will compare favorably with any institution in the State.

BARN BURNT.—On the night of the 13th inst., the barn of Mr. Henry Bair, of Union township, was totally destroyed by fire, together with all its contents, consisting of cows, carriage, agricultural implements, &c. Fortunately, none of his horses were in the barn at the time, they being out in pasture for the night. It was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary, as was evident from the fact that when first discovered, the fire was raging in three different places, making such rapid progress, that before neighboring assistance could be obtained, the entire barn was nearly in ashes. The loss will prove quite a serious one to Mr. B., as he can illy afford it, not being possessed of too much of this world's goods.—Press.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Henry Strayer, near Bermudian, has put up a fine new Barn 100 by 64 feet.

In Latimore township, Jacob Livingston and David P. Lerew are erecting new barns, and Daniel Hoffman a new house.

In Huntington twp., Daniel Beitman, Wm. F. Bonner and Abraham Burkholder are building new barns, and Michael Leer a new brick house.

In Tyrone township, Jacob Spangler is putting up a new barn.

In York Springs a considerable amount of house and barn painting, and brushing up, is being done. Griest & Bowers have re-painted their Store Room, looking like business progress, and adding greatly to the appearance of the lower end of the borough. Dr. Dill, H. C. Peters and C. A. Peacock contemplate re-painting their dwellings this summer.—Compiler.

DEATH OF MR. CARNELL.—The Lutheran Observer announces the death of Rev. SIMON P. CARNELL, the Missionary of the General Snyod of the Lutheran Church in Western Africa. Mr. Carnell was educated at Gettysburg, and left the Theological Seminary in December, 1868, to enter on his mission labors. He had passed safely through the acclimating fevers peculiar to Western Africa, enjoyed good health, was possessed of a vigorous constitution, and seemed to be peculiarly adapted to the field of labor to which he had been assigned. As late as the 1st of May, he was in Monravia superintending the sale of coffee raised by the Mission, and seemed to be in perfect health. Exposure to a hot noon-day sun, while on his return to the Mission station brought on an attack of fever, which ended in his death on the following Wednesday, May 4. His death will be severely felt at the mission, where his labors had been eminently successful and full of promise.

CENSUS APPOINTMENTS.—Gen. Gregory has at length commenced to make his appointments of Assistant Marshals. There has been an unreasonable delay in his action, and much complaint over the district. The Department at Washington is not responsible for the delay, as Gen. Gregory had been repeatedly urged to act promptly.

On Tuesday last, commissions as Assistant Marshals for Adams county were received by Messrs. R. S. Paxton and John M. Werner, of this place; Capt. C. G. Miller, Mountpleasant; John Cunningham, Freedom; I. N. Durboraw, Mountjoy; Wm. Chamberlain, Franklin; and G. W. Lott, Highland.

As the districts assigned these gentlemen do not cover the entire county, we presume there are other appointments of which we have not heard.

Mr. Paxton has Gettysburg, Cumberland and Highland; Mr. Werner, Reading and Latimore; Mr. Durboraw, Germany, Mountjoy and Littlestown; Mr. Cunningham, Freedom, Hamiltonban and Liberty; and Mr. Lott, Hamilton, Mountpleasant and Oxford townships. We have no information as to the other districts.

ALLIANCE.—At the close of the sessions of the State Sabbath School Convention in Harrisburg, last week, a meeting was held in the Presbyterian church to organize a branch of the Evangelical Christian Alliance for Central Pennsylvania. A constitution was adopted and Rev. Dr. Robinson, of Harrisburg, elected President. Among the names proposed as members we notice those of Prof. M. L. Stoever of Gettysburg, Rev. J. B. Young of Bendersville, and Hon. I. S. Diehl of New Oxford. The following gentlemen were elected delegates to the general convention in New York next September:—Rev. E. H. Nevin, Lancaster; Rev. M. Rhodes, Lebanon, Rev. Dr. Dashiell, Dickinson College, Rev. B. C. Suesserott, Lancaster, Rev. G. F. Stelling, Harrisburg, Rev. Dr. T. S. Johnston, D. D., Lebanon, Hon. I. S. Diehl, New Oxford.

Don't forget the Concert, next Thursday night, June 30th.

GOOD TEMPLARS.—During the sessions of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars last week, the members visited Pennsylvania College in a body, President Valentine receiving them in a neat speech, which was responded to by G. W. Chief Templar, S. B. Chase, Esq., after which an hour or more was occupied in examining the College buildings, Society Halls, Library, &c., the visitors being pleased with their reception. A visit was also made to the National Orphans' Homestead and the National Cemetery.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings public meetings were held in the Presbyterian, Methodist and Christ (Lutheran) churches, addresses being delivered by Messrs. Trowbridge of Warren, Brosius of Lancaster, Diehl of California, (formerly of New Oxford,) Long of Philadelphia, Davidson of Erie, and other prominent members of the order.

GRAND ORCHESTRAL CONCERT.—The Granduating Class of Pennsylvania College, has secured the services of the "Peabody Musical Association," of Baltimore, for Commencement, next week, and will give a concert in Agricultural Hall, on Thursday evening next, June 30. From the reputation of this Association we can inform our readers that it will be a rare treat, and no one should fail to attend. Tickets fifty cents, to be had at the Stores and the Door.

SCHOOL PIC-NIC.—We learn that the Summer School, at East Berlin, under charge of Mr. J. C. Hildebrand, had a pleasant Pic-Nic on Saturday last, in Hykes' grove, about one mile from East Berlin. The children were supplied with swings, jumping ropes, croquets, &c., and after spending a delightful day returned to town, everything passing off satisfactorily. Mr. Hildebrand is one of the most successful, wide-a-wake teachers in the county.

EXTRA TRAIN.—During the Summer season the Gettysburg Railroad Company will run an extra train every Monday morning, leaving at 5 o'clock, to connect with the early trains on the Northern Central road, North and South. This will enable passengers to reach New York in time for supper.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—A large Barn was recently raised for Mr. Henry Strayer, 100 by 64 feet, one of the most substantial in this neighborhood. The work was successfully and satisfactorily done by D. L. Myers, as boss carpenter, assisted by Messrs. D. H. Myers, G. W. Detter, J. B. Troup, W. F. Snyder, Levi Nell, Reuben Myers and B. F. Myers. T.

A GRAND EXHIBITION OF NATIONAL INDUSTRY.—The American Institute of New York City, of which Horace Greeley is President, will hold their thirty-ninth Fair during the months of September and October next, at the Empire Rink.

The brilliant success of former Exhibitions is a guarantee that a leading feature in the attractions of the Metropolis during the fall will be this Great Industrial Display.

For circular giving classification of articles, rules for Exhibitors and full particulars, address, Corresponding Secretary, American Institute, New York City.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is warranted to cure Catarrh in its worst forms and stages. The most painful cases are speedily relieved by it, and stoppages, offensive discharges, and tainted breath all yield to its wonderful curative powers. "Cold in the Head," dizziness and thin watery discharges are removed, the head cleared, the air passages opened, and relief and comfort afforded by its use. It contains no strong irritating, poisonous or caustic drugs. Sent by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Address R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by most druggists everywhere. 1t

WANTED.—Several Agents to travel through Adams County, to sell the celebrated Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine, of which there are now nearly 500,000 in use. Every thing found. Address, PETERSON & CARPENTER, 64 North Queen st., Lancaster. References required in writing.

NEW GROCERY.—Mr. H. H. Beamer has taken the Grocery and Notion Store, recently kept by Mr. Amos Eckert, on the north-west corner of the diamond, and largely added to the stock of goods. His Groceries, Notions, Glass-ware, China-ware, &c., have been bought in a falling market, and he is prepared to sell at the very lowest prices. Give him a call.

PERUVIAN SYRUP.—This valuable medicine has been silently making its way into public favor by the numerous remarkable cures it has performed. Its singular efficacy is owing to the protoxide of iron which in this preparation remains unchanged, and is the only form in which this vital element of healthy blood can be supplied. 1t

Tickets for the Concert only 50 cents.

HOW TO LOOK YOUNG—SIXTEEN.—Don't paint or use vile Restorers, but simply apply Hagan's Magnolia Balm upon your face, neck and hands, and use Lyon's Kathairon upon your hair. The Balm makes your complexion pearly, soft and natural, and you can't tell what did it. It removes freckles, tan, sallowness, ring-marks, moth-patches, etc; and in place of a red, rustic face, you have the marble purity of an exquisite belle. It gives to middle age the bloom of perpetual youth. Add these effects to a splendid head of hair produced by the Kathairon, and a lady has done her best in the way of adornment. Brothers will have no spinster sisters when these articles are around. june3-1m ALWAYS AHEAD.—Capt. NORRIS is determined not to be outdone by rivals, and hence has been brushing up his "Head-Quarters," on the corner of the Diamond and Chambersburg street, (Arnold's corner,) where he has on hand the largest and best assortment of Ready-made Clothing of all kinds, for Spring and Summer use, ever opened in Gettysburg, and which he is offering at astonishing low figures. His stock of Straw Hats embrace all styles, qualities, and prices. April 22-tf.

BLANK DEEDS, &C.—We have just printed a new lot of Blank Deeds of various kinds, including Deeds for Executors, Administrators, Guardians, Assignees and Trustees generally. Also Mortgages. They have been printed with clear type on the best of paper, and we are prepared to supply them in any desired quantity. Also, Judgment and Sale Notes, with and without Exemption Waivers, Negotiable Notes, &c.

ATTENTION FARMERS.—Try the celebrated Patent Elastic Rubber lined Collars, Saddles and Pads, Warranted to prevent horses from galling and to heal up under work horses already galled, if properly fitted; and sore necks and backs are kept clean with cold water and Castile Soap, or no pay. For sale by J. W. Cress, manufacturer's Agent, Gettysburg, Pa. Sept. 10-tf

SAVE MONEY.—Pending the agitation of the Funding Bill, which will evidently depreciate Government Bonds, persons would do well by reading the advertisement of the "Gettysburg National Bank," in another column, and exchange their Government Bonds and realize a handsome profit thereby, and obtain an investment as safe and profitable. tf

Spring and Summer Goods just received. Read COBEAN & CUNNINGHAM'S advertisement and learn where to buy Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, Notions, &c. at reduced prices. Baltimore street, opposite Fahnestock Brothers. April 15-tf.

THE HEARTH & HOME for this week (dated June 25th) contains the first of a series of sketches entitled Jethro Throop's Night Thoughts, by John Thomas, who is no other than Petroleum V. Nasby. The great humorist will take an honest country boy to the city, conduct him through the usual experience, and restore him to his home a sadder and wiser boy, satisfied that the peaceful, honest, and temperate life of the farmer is the best and safest life that can be lived. This is a lesson greatly needed at this time, and Nasby is the man to teach it.

GRAIN CRADLES.—Greencastle manufacture—decidedly the best in use—three sizes on hand—prices reduced. For sale by R. SHEELY, 1½ miles south of Gettysburg. june 10-tf

Hamlin's celebrated Wizard Oil, for rheumatism, neuralgia, headache, toothache, &c., for sale by A. D. Buehler Druggist, Gettysburg. tf

FOR RENT.—Several desirable Rooms in south-east corner of the diamond, the late residence of Hon. R. G. Harper, deceased. For terms, &c., inquire of Mrs. Harper.

FOR SALE CHEAP.—A good second-hand Falling and Shifting-top Buggy. Enquire at this office. tf

TELEGRAPHIC despatches of Monday last record an unusual number of crimes and casualties. At Louisville four persons were killed in deadly affrays, growing out of family troubles. Three persons were drowned at Poughkeepsie by a collision. A boy, aged eleven years, was thrown overboard and drowned at Boston by an employee of the State Prison. Two boys were drowned at Boston whilst bathing. A man was stabbed to death at Cleveland, having been "mistaken" for a party with whom the murderer had had a difficulty.

REPORTS from the Oregon election to June 10th, published in the San Francisco papers, say that the Republicans had nine Senators, the Democrats twelve, and there was one district in doubt. In the House the Republicans had certainly nineteen members, the Democrats twenty-three, and five were in doubt. The vote in many districts was very close, and it is reported that forty additional votes would have elected members enough to give the Republicans a handsome majority in the Legislature.

AN EXPENSIVE KISS.—In the Superior Court of Baltimore city, before Judge Dobbin, on Saturday, a suit by Newton W. Seibert, and Elizabeth, his wife, against John Leeson for assault, was tried. The alleged assault was that the defendant, in February last, at the house of Seibert, during his absence, approached Seibert's wife and seized and kissed her hand against her will. The jury brought in a verdict for the amount of $2000 in favor of Mrs. Seibert.

PRESIDENT GRANT, says the Washington Chronicle, assured a delegation of North Carolinians who called upon him on Friday in regard to rebel outrages against the Union people of that State, that if Governor Holden's militia could not suppress these lawless combinations they might look for prompt and stern assistance from the national authority. The election for Congress and the Legislature of North Carolina takes place the first Monday in August.

JEROME Napoleon Bonaparte, a well known citizen of Baltimore, died at his residence on Friday last. He was the son of Jerome Bonaparte—brother of the Emperor—and Miss Elizabeth Patterson, of Baltimore, who were married in Baltimore by Bishop Carroll in 1803.

THERE are two annoyances that have existed probably from the foundation of the world, which no system of laws seems adequate to meet—short weight bread and watered milk.

HOW TO CURE CONSUMPTION.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF DR. SCHENCK'S GREAT MEDICINES.—Will people never learn to know that a diseased liver and stomach necessarily disease the entire system? The plainest Principles of common sense teach this, and yet there are hundreds who ridicule the idea, and continue in the course which almost inevitably brings them permaturely to the grave. Living as the majority of the people do, at complete variance with the laws of nature, it must be apparent to all that, sooner or later, nature will revenge herself. Hence we find that persons who indulge to excess in the use of very rich or indigestible food or intoxicating drinks, invariably pay a heavy penalty in the end. The stomach becomes disordered and refuses to act; the liver fails to perform its functions, dyspepsia and its attendant evils follow, and still the suffering individuals persist in clinging to the thoroughly exploded ideas of the past. Dr. Schenck's medicines are recommended to all such. They bring sure and certain relief wherever they are used as directed, and all that is necessary to establish their reputation with every ailing man or woman in the land is a fair and impartial trial of them. Let those who are skeptical on this point, and who have permitted interested persons to prejudice them against these now celebrated remedies for Consumption, discard their prejudices, and be governed by the principles of reason and common sense. If the system is disordered depend upon it, in nine cases out of ten the seat of disorder will be found in the stomach and liver. To cleanse and invigorate the stomach and to stimulate the liver to healthy action, use

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS.—The daily increasing demand for these pills is the best evidence of their value. Thousands upon thousands of boxes are sold daily. Why? Simply because they act promptly and efficiently. Invalids who may not find it convenient to call on Dr. Schenck in person are informed that full and complete directions for use accompany each package of the MANDRAKE PILLS, PULMONIC SYRUP AND SEAWEED TONIC.—These medicines will cure consumption unless the lungs are so far gone that the patient is entirely beyond the reach of medical relief.

It may be asked by those who are not familiar with the virtues of these great remedies, "How do Dr. Schenck's medicines effect their wonderful cures of consumption?"

The answer is a simple one. They begin their work of restoration by bringing the stomach, liver and bowels into an active healthy condition. It is food that cures this formidable disease.—SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS act on the liver and stomach, promoting healthy secretion, and removing the bile and slime which have resulted from the inactive or torpid condition of these organs, and of the system generally. This sluggish state of the body, and the consequent accumulation of the unhealthy substances named prevent the proper digestion of food, and, as a natural consequence creates disease, which results in prostration and finally in death.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP and SEAWEED TONIC, when taken regularly, mingle with the food, aid the digestive organs, make good rich blood, and as a natural consequence, give flesh and strength to the patient. Let the faculty say what it may, this is the only true cure for consumption. Experience has proved it beyond the shadow of a doubt, and thousands are to-day alive and well who a few years since were regarded as hopeless cases, but who were induced to try Dr. Schenck's remedies, and were restored to permanent health by their use.

One of the first steps the physician should take with a consumptive patient is to invigorate the system. Now how is this to be done? Certainly not by giving medicines that exhaust and enervate—medicines that impair instead of improve the functions of the digestive organs. Dr. Schenck's medicines cleanse the stomach and bowels of all substances which are calculated to irritate or weaken them. They create an appetite—promote healthful digestion—make good blood, and, as a consequence, they invigorate and strengthen the entire system, and more especially those parts which are diseased. If this cannot be done, then the case must be regarded as a hopeless one.

If the physician finds it impossible to make a PATIENT FEEL HUNGRY, if the diseased person cannot partake of good nourishing food and properly digest it, it is impossible that he can gain flesh and strength; and it is equally impossible to bring a patient to this condition so long as the liver is burdened with diseased bile, and the stomach laden with unhealthy slime.

Almost the first request made to the physician by a consumptive patient is that he will prescribe medicines that will remove or allay the cough, night sweats and chills, which are the sure attendants on consumption. But this should not be done, as the cough is only an effort of nature to relieve itself, and the night sweats and chills are caused by the diseased lungs. The remedies ordinarily prescribed do more harm than good.—They impair the functions of the stomach, impede healthy digestion, and aggravate rather than cure the disease.

There is, afrer all, nothing like facts with which to substantiate a position, and it is upon facts that Dr. Schenck relies. Nearly all who have taken his medicines in accordance with his directions have not only been cured of consumption, but, from the fact that these medicines act with wonderful power upon the digestive organs, patients thus cured speedily gain flesh. Cleansing the system of all impurities, they lay the foundation for a sound, substantial structure. Restoring these organs to health, they create an appetite. The food is properly assimilated; the quantity of blood is not only increased, but is made rich and strong and in the face of such a condition of the system all disease must be banished.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see Dr. Schenck personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose he is at his principle office, No. 15 North Sixth St., corner of Commerce, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 6 A. M., until 1 P. M. Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the charge is $5.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each, $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. [June 10, 1870—1y

ROSADALIS

THE GREAT AMERICAN HEALTH RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Diseases of Women, and all Chronic Affections of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens.

Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says:

I take pleasure in recommending your ROSADALIS as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine.—The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleaner of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesboro', Tenn., says:

I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtol, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

Rosadalis is sold by all Druggists.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

MORE THAN 500,000 PERSONS Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of POOR RUM, WHISKEY, PROOF SPIRITS, AND REFUSE LIQUORS, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics" "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine, made from the native Roots and Herbs of California, FREE FROM ALL ALCOHOLIC STIMULANTS.—They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For INFLAMMATORY and CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, and GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILIOUS, REMITTENT, AND INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

In Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, these Bitters have no equal. For full directions read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

SLAUGHTER OF THE INNOCENTS.—That dogs do infinitely more harm than good has long been an established fact. Nine-tenths of them are absolutely worthless—an eyesore to all communities. They are remarkable only for their destructive qualities and the avidity with which they gorge food.—The monthly report of the Department of Agriculture for March and April gives a partial enumeration of the sheep killed the past year by dogs, as returned from four hundred and seventeen counties, aggregating 99,389, and showing a complete enumeration would bring the number up to at least half a million sheep killed, and as many wounded, involving an actual loss of two million dollars. In view of the above facts the report suggests that while a reduction of taxation is the tendency of the times a tax by the general government upon dogs, like that of British and other European governments, would prove a hundred-fold more of a benefit than hardship, relieving the poor of the great burden of keeping them and society of the intolerable nuisance of worthless dogs, at the same time improving the animals worth the value of a tax, and taking from the industry of wool-growing one of its greatest burdens of taxation.

PASTURING HOGS IN SUMMER.—A correspondent of the Country Gentleman, writing from Hamilton County, Ohio, says, the system of all good hog raisers in that region is to pasture hogs on clover during the summer. He presents, as the advantages of this plan, the statement that an acre of ground in clover will pasture five hogs four months, and that it will take the corn from half an acre to feed them at the same time. The cultivation of the corn he counts equal to the rent of the other half acre. He further claims that hogs pastured on clover are in far better condition than if fed on corn, as they are larger framed, healthier and eat better; and also states that the land is enriched by the clover pasturing.

The hogs' noses must be rung, or cut if they are to be pastured. To do this, this writer makes rings of pieces of No. 10 wire, 3½ inches long. Each end is curved over the horn of an anvil.—A hole is made through the middle of the snout with a flat awl; the ring is inserted and closed up until the ends lap a little.

HEALTH OF FARMERS.—There are seven reasons why farmers are healthier than professional men, viz:

1. They work more and develop all the leading muscles of the body.
2. They take their exercise in the open air, and breathe a greater amount of oxygen.
3. Their food and drinks are commonly less adulterated, and far more simple.
4. They do not overwork their brain as much as industrious professional men do.
5. They take their sleep, commonly during the hours of darkness, and do not try to turn night into day.
6. They are not so ambitious, and do not wear themselves out so rapidly in the fierce contest of rivalry.
7. Their pleasures are simple and less exhausting.

A FRENCH gardener finding a piece of woolen cloth, which had lodged on a tree, covered with caterpillars, acted upon the idea suggested, and placed woolen rags in several trees. Every morning he found them covered with caterpillars, which he easily removed.

BRUISES OR SORES ON A HORSE.—Boil smartweed in chamber lye; after boiling put in a little soft soap. Wash while warm, two or three times a day. If the weather be cold, dry with a hot brick or cover with cloth.

YOUNT'S COMPOUND

or any other Inflammatory or inward disease of the Throat if not of too long standing. Also, SCARLET FEVER. This medicine has been tried in in different parts of the country, and has never been known to fail if taken in time and according to directions. It is warranted to cure. Give it a trial and it will speak for itself. Every household should provide themselves with a box of this medicine and keep it on hands. The cures that it has effected are truly marvelous.

Prepared and sold by ISRAEL YOUNT & Co., Gettysburg, Pa., or by their authorized agents. For sale at nearly all the Stores in Adams county.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.
